Sliding Fee Scale

The Sliding Fee Scale determines the amount you pay for each service received from West Michigan Community Mental Health. Your payment is based on your income and ability to pay, as required by state law and administrative rules.

The table below lists the maximum income allowed for each household size. These amounts are based on the 2026 Federal Poverty Level guidelines and are updated annually.

Your ability to pay will be reviewed annually to account for changes in income. You must provide documentation of your annual income and household size.

The per session amount shown above is the maximum you will pay for each visit.

*WM is required to implement a per visit co-pay to stay in alignment with the Michigan Administrative Rules. This means your ability-to-pay will be set at a per visit co-pay (due at the time of service) with a monthly maximum.

For example, if your monthly maximum is calculated at $49 a month, your per visit co-pay will be $15 per visit but will not exceed your $49 monthly maximum. You will pay $15 per visit but no more than $49 a month.
